Proposal: The Sanctuary

There is an ape inside all of us. The theme here is to get everyone socializing and supporting one another.

Much can be learned about primate sanctuaries and how they are organized to introduce individuals and groups into the appropriate families. It is only fair to say that a concept which connects travelers and locals within a sanctuary environment is surely possible. The appropriate people must be connected to similar individuals who share the same values, attitudes and overall personality traits that are cohesive, making for a smooth introduction. Gravitate towards what interests you.
