Water-cooled seating meets sun-warmed shower experience: garden furniture covered with garden hose

Solution

Do you remember how it was when you were still a child and your parents splashed you in the garden with the water hose? The first minute was always great, because the water had warmed by the sun, then brrrrrrrrrr. My trick was then, to unwind and spread the hose out, to heat up as much water as possible.

My furniture design REFRESH! takes up these wonderful childhood memories and develops them further. Instead of "mile-long" hose chaos, the hose is wrapped around the garden furniture and so sun produces many liters of hot water - the more pieces of furniture are interconnected, the more hot water.

On the other hand, you can freshen up and cool down by letting in fresh, cold water flowing into the furniture.

How does your idea solve the problem?

The furniture, whether chair or deck chair, is covered with a garden hose. Thus, there is more hose surface, which can warm up by solar radiation and thus there is more hot water for the garden shower
