

1/2 ULTRA UNIT

a office space design and a set of product that helps co-working office environment more interactive

Solution

because we now live in digital era, "world of machines" modernity has brought human to easier and better quality life, working environment in the future is a post-modern era where machine will be a fully-capable worker and human can focus on training their human power, creativity. co-working environment is an example of a working environment that focus on human resources. co-working in the future will be based on human creativity, ability to synthesized problem in the project, think and work together, while the machine analyze and solve the problem as worker, we then create more efficient systems and better office living through design.
