

1/4 Evening Garden

A dark, contrasted, geometric pattern with vintage element and cool shades designed for summer.

Solution

I created this pattern from my own photo of a vintage Russian scarf, I have taken it to its elements and re-arranged it to fit a geometric grid, that could be viewed as glass panes of an indoor garden or a trellis grid. Please note each of my designs have three images: the single repeat unit, the maximum scale at 164 cm fabric width* and a detailed closeup of the pattern. All sizes are real, but the resolution has been reduced to 96 dpi for web use.

Why does your design stand out?

This particular design has a dark colour with a slight tropical hint that is a perfect design for hot summer days. The pattern works well both at large or smaller scale, and could also work well as a small addition to garments, as skirts or dresses, or smaller elements such as patches. It could be used boldly, or quite modestly too. Because this is created from a vintage fabric, this is the kind of pattern that works well on more traditionally tailored, vintage-inspired garments too.
