

The risk of learning for winning

A pedagogical point of view that involves collective education among crowdworkers.

Solution

The proposal starts from the fact that when studying a career usually we don't win any money for that, rather, we learn to win it after. Because of the newness of crowdworking maybe we need consider it from a pedagogical point of view. As if we were learning to ride a bike, in crowdworking while practicing we are able to handle risks and hits until take more advantage of hits.
