Cooking Factory ‘Kochfabrik’

Explain how and why you created this work. Was it for a specific brief, etc.?

A large open space divided into three functional zones without conventional walls. The single-level accommodates a dining, cooking areas and socialising spot. Throughout uncovering the building’s original walls — the raw brick and concrete were found on site, incorporated them in the space. Rustic timber finishes of the furniture adds warm and comfort feel to the interior.
