

1/2 Crowdsourced Farms

Lease a small part of a local farm and have your own source of food helping local small producers.

Follow the latest news and vote for growing new things with an special app.

Users can also manage their accounts, add or remove products all remotely.

Solution

You can grow and take your food directly from your local little farm!

Crowdsourced farms would be a common productive space, built and kept with the help of customers monthly rent and all managed in an online social platform, joining producers with customers.

Customers pay a monthly amount based on their needs, previously in their online profile and account. All profiles will define the range of food produced in the farm as well as all producers involved.

Your bill would be calculated by the costs of the farm maintenance, products, workers involved and logistics. As the farm is kept by the tenants money, the costs would be divided by all. If the number of subscribers increase, the costs would gradually decrease comparing to the supermarkets, for example. The focus of the project would be the local small producers and how we could help to improve small local business by selling

Future of Food & Beverages

2/2

Crowdsourced Farms

Lease a small part of a local farm and have your own source of food helping local small producers.

Creative's profile

Celina Cabral PRO

Multidisciplinary designer

Lisbon, Portugal

Creative's top 5 skills

Graphic Design, User Experience, Communication Concept, Service Design