A platform that uses state of the art technology and systems to connect farmers with customers.

Solution

REGIONALDIGITAL is a digital farmers market that will help farmers to distribute their products and supports the development of relationships between the farmers and their customers. A smart way to foster alternative distribution for direct-to-consumer service, promote sustainability by short transit routes, and minimizing storage volumes. Find near by farmers and markets or use "drop off" to bring along products to your near by friends and neighbors - They can order their shopping list in advance, so you just pick up and , 'drop by' deliveries in exchange for a generous delivery-discount on your own purchase. Farmers also become visible to their consumers through personal stories and profiles, and bloggings...
