Solution

A caregiver's job is very difficult and exhausting both physically and mentally, sometimes after a long day everything that a caregiver wishes for is, just to take a break, to just disconnect from the daily live his/her is currently living, but most of the time this simple desire can't be granted because there is no one that would be suited or available to take the caregiver's place for some hours or even a week. A solution for this problem could come from volunteering, more exactly a campaign about caregiving could be created by TEVA pharmacies, the campaign can focus on informing people about the hardships of caregiving and what they can do to help caregivers. TEVA can create an online website were any volunteer and caregiver can complete a form in which they can specify his/her name, age, phone number and a summary about themselves and what is their motivation to help a caregiver, also they can specify what kind of help they want to offer( cleaning the house, help with
