

1/5 Office in Our Pockets - The WorkWorld Online

The world of work will change with our offices just within reach: in our pockets.

Solution

In an increasingly globalized world connected with technology, we see the future of work as having less emphasis on workplaces and work environments and instead with more focus on remote communication and collaboration online. We would use advanced tools that help us have more control over our lives, rather than immersing us in working environments that keep us from reaching our full potential as people.

Status: 15.06.2018

2/5

Office in Our Pockets - The WorkWorld Online

The world of work will change with our offices just within reach: in our pockets.

Describe your idea in less than three sentences.

The world of work will change with our offices just within reach: in our pockets. Instead of immersing ourselves in work environments, virtual realities or realities, we see online/remote collaboration through interfaces that are integrated to help us lead fulfilling lives. This is what we think is the future of doing work.

3/5

Office in Our Pockets - The WorkWorld Online

The world of work will change with our offices just within reach: in our pockets.

What type of content is your submission?

We are submitting a presentation.

4/5

Office in Our Pockets - The WorkWorld Online

The world of work will change with our offices just within reach: in our pockets.

Please highlight any third-party material used. Be sure to include the source where it can be found.

Matrix Minority Report (image) Gaia Online (image) The Sims (image)

5/5

Office in Our Pockets - The WorkWorld Online

The world of work will change with our offices just within reach: in our pockets.

Creative's profile

Shao Design PRO
Creative Director
San Juan, Philippines

Creative's top 5 skills

Graphic Design, Packaging Design