This idea of a logo for "Get into a dialogue" connected the association between growing up with internet and having success in future life with this necessary modern worldconnection. Being up to date in technology, politics, science, etc means to grow up with a lot of informations. To arrange what is important for life and not is an additional part in growing up, today. But if you use it correct and if you learn it since you CAN learn it, you have the best chance to use it for work, life to have success!

So, my design shows a doctoral cap as a sign for success and school (or university) graduation in connection with a computer mouse which is a symbol for getting succes by learning with internet.

I designed a few variants, so I icluded some speechbubbles (or quadrats) as mousepads--> for concretize the theme to make it round!

The whole design functioned as symbol for having success in life by

Get Into a Dialogue!
