LESSON ON LESS

Solution

Like any lesson worth learning, this loft is a process that continues to develop. The concept was simple we tried to have the most open floor plan possible while utilizing low tec ideas that require a human interaction. The wood surfaces have been treated with a traditional milk paint that is non toxic and made from only milk, lime and a small amount of bleach. Our space uses a lot of different folds, twists, and rolling connections...keep checking more updates are coming.
