Solution

UPDATE:

The box itself is further developed to enable more possibilities of use. Next to the existing transformational features it can now also roll, making it even more flexible!

Being minimalistic and flexible, this design strives to be timeless and bold at the same time.

As Adolf Loos already put it a century ago: "Our home was never finished, it changed with us and we changed with her."

Nevertheless, the modern man is an urban nomad. This design is not site-specific and basically can be put as a suitcase anywhere "home" is needed.
